Kaufman n, Dr. P. H.
A BCD Program For Childhood Obesity in Pediatric Primary Care
Consultation Outcome Study
Health Sciences and a registered nurse at Pediatrics South in Mt. Lebanon. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S. from the University of Central Arkansas-Conway. Her doctoral capstone project, "Health Beliefs of Nicaraguan Women," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Madelaine L. Binner at Johns Hopkins Bayview Medical Center, where she assesses, diagnoses, and develops treatment plans for adult patients. She holds a B.S.N. from the University of Hartford, an M.B.A. from Niagara University, and an M.S.N. from the University of Central Arkansas. Her doctoral capstone project, "Chemosensitivity-Induced Perioperative Neuroapraxia: Assessment of Oncology Nurses' Knowledge and Practice," was completed under the supervision of Patricia Fedorka, Ph.D.

Karen Dawn Colombo is a cardiology specialist at New York Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn, where she serves as the cardiovascular nurse practitioner and divisional administrator. She holds a B.S.N. from the College of Staten Island and an M.S.N. from Wagner College. Her doctoral capstone project, "Does Obesity Impact In-Hospital Outcomes Following Primary Percutaneous Coronary Intervention in Patients with Acute ST Elevation Myocardial Infarction?", was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Susan Robson Fair is a nurse practitioner at Allegheny Specialty Practice Network and a part-time faculty member at Robert Morris University, where she teaches in the DNP program. She holds her B.S.N. from Pennsylvania State University and her M.S.N. in adult and women's health from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Impact of a Short-Term Immersion Experience on Cultural Competency: Baccalaureate Nursing Students and a Nicaraguan Model," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Lisa J. Hogan is a nurse anesthetist and assistant program director of the school of anesthesiology at the University of New England in Portland, Maine. She holds a B.S.N. from Fitchburg State College and her M.S.N.A. from the University of New England. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Effects of an Educational Program Administered to Operating Room and Anesthesia Staff on Noise Levels in the Operating Rooms," was completed under the supervision of Deborah White, Ph.D.

Sadie S. Hughes-Young is a nurse practitioner at the VA Medical Center in Cincinnati specializing in spinal cord injuries and disorders. She holds her B.S.N. from the University of Arizona at Pine Bluff and her M.S.N. from the University of Central Arkansas-Convoy. Her doctoral capstone project, "Spinal Cord Injury/Disorder Tele-Consultation Outcome Study," was completed under the supervision of Deborah White, Ph.D.

Meg J. Larson is a nurse practitioner in Eric, where she works with women of all ages. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Edinboro University. Her doctoral capstone project, "Health Literacy and Clear Communication Prompting and Clinicians' Self-Reported Responses," was completed under the supervision of Valerie Howard, Ed.D.

Lisa Wetmore Locasto is the nursing department head for the Robert Morris University School of Nursing and Health Sciences and a registered nurse at Pediatrics South in Mt. Lebanon. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Edinboro University. Her doctoral capstone project, "A Tool Kit For Battling Childhood Obesity: Implementing the ABCD Program For Childhood Obesity in Pediatric Primary Care," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

SCHOOL OF NURSING AND HEALTH SCIENCES
Lynda J. Davidson, Ph.D., R.N., Dean
DOCTOR OF NURSING PRACTICE

Colleen R. Barrett is a certified family nurse practitioner with Primary Health Network. She also has taught in the nurse practitioner consortium program for Clarion, Edinboro, and Slippery Rock universities as adjunct faculty. She holds a B.S.N. from Edinboro University and an M.S.N. from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Effect of an Educational Program for Nursing Students on HPV Vaccine and Vaccine," was completed under the supervision of Mary Cothran, Ph.D.

Madeleine L. Binner is a medical oncology nurse practitioner at the Sidney Kimmel Comprehensive Cancer Center at Johns Hopkins Bayview Medical Center, where she assesses, diagnoses, and develops treatment plans for adult patients. She holds a B.S.N. from the University of Hartford, an M.B.A. from Niagara University, and an M.S.N. from the University of Central Arkansas. Her doctoral capstone project, "Chemosensitivity-Induced Perioperative Neuroapraxia: Assessment of Oncology Nurses’ Knowledge and Practice," was completed under the supervision of Patricia Fedorka, Ph.D.

Karen Dawn Colombo is the administrative coordinator in the cardiology division at New York Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn, where she serves as the cardiovascular nurse practitioner and divisional administrator. She holds a B.S.N. from the College of Staten Island and an M.S.N. from Wagner College. Her doctoral capstone project, "Does Obesity Impact In-Hospital Outcomes Following Primary Percutaneous Coronary Intervention in Patients with Acute ST Elevation Myocardial Infarction?," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Susan Robson Fair is a nurse practitioner at Allegheny Specialty Practice Network and a part-time faculty member at Robert Morris University, where she teaches in the DNP program. She holds her B.S.N. from Pennsylvania State University and her M.S.N. in adult and women's health from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Impact of a Short-Term Immersion Experience on Cultural Competency: Baccalaureate Nursing Students and a Nicaraguan Model," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Lisa J. Hogan is a nurse anesthetist and assistant program director of the school of anesthesiology at the University of New England in Portland, Maine. She holds a B.S.N. from Fitchburg State College and her M.S.N.A. from the University of New England. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Effects of an Educational Program Administered to Operating Room and Anesthesia Staff on Noise Levels in the Operating Rooms," was completed under the supervision of Deborah White, Ph.D.

Sadie S. Hughes-Young is a nurse practitioner at the VA Medical Center in Cincinnati specializing in spinal cord injuries and disorders. She holds her B.S.N. from the University of Arizona at Pine Bluff and her M.S.N. from the University of Central Arkansas-Convoy. Her doctoral capstone project, "Spinal Cord Injury/Disorder Tele-Consultation Outcome Study," was completed under the supervision of Deborah White, Ph.D.

Meg J. Larson is a nurse practitioner in Eric, where she works with women of all ages. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Edinboro University. Her doctoral capstone project, "Health Literacy and Clear Communication Prompting and Clinicians' Self-Reported Responses," was completed under the supervision of Valerie Howard, Ed.D.

Lisa Wetmore Locasto is the nursing department head for the Robert Morris University School of Nursing and Health Sciences and a registered nurse at Pediatrics South in Mt. Lebanon. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Edinboro University. Her doctoral capstone project, "A Tool Kit For Battling Childhood Obesity: Implementing the ABCD Program For Childhood Obesity in Pediatric Primary Care," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Patricia Meade-D’Alisera is the co-owner of All Care Family Nurse Practitioners, a practice in suburban New York specializing in bladder health. She also is a faculty nurse practitioner at Columbia University in the neurology department’s multiple sclerosis center. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Dominican College. Her doctoral capstone project, "Use of Health Report Cards in Modifying Cardiac Risks in Firefighters," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Kimberlee Miller-Wenning is the family nurse practitioner for Brown County Regional Health Care in Mt. Orab, Ohio. She also serves as the FNP instructor at the University of Cincinnati College of Nursing. She holds her B.S.N. from the College of Mt. St. Joseph and her M.S.N. from the University of Cincinnati. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Health Beliefs of Nicaraguan Women," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Melissa Wentland-Moreno is a family nurse practitioner at ARC of Rockland and the cofounder of All Care Family Nurse Practitioner Continence Care Center. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Dominican College. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Facilitators and Barriers of Advanced Practice Nurses in Pursuit of the DNP," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Joseph Nvayo Ndongwa is a nurse practitioner at Sheehan Health Network, where he conducts clinical research and education programs on family and addiction medicine. He holds a B.A., B.S.N., and M.S.N. from SUNY-Buffalo. His doctoral capstone project, "Antibiotic Prescribing for Adults with Upper Respiratory Tract Infections in an Urban Family Care Center Serving Predominantly African American Community in Western New York," was completed under the supervision of Lynne George, Ph.D.

Joyce Aliesky Ott is a clinical assistant professor at Duquesne University School of Nursing. She holds a B.S.N. from Duquesne University and an M.S.N. from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Journey to Shared Governance: The Local Experience of Nurse Managers and Staff Nurses," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Chandrowtie Persaud is a nurse practitioner in the department of surgery at Montefiore Medical Center, where she medically manages neurosurgical patients. She holds her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from the College of New Rochelle. Her doctoral capstone project, "Patient's Perception of the Neurosurgical Nurse Practitioner," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.

Lisa M. Riedel is a certified registered nurse anesthetist in Ohio. She holds her B.S.N. from the University of Michigan and her M.S.N. from the University of Detroit. Her doctoral capstone project, "Talking Truth," was completed under the supervision of Stephen Foreman, Ph.D.

Dorothy A. Robinson is the senior transplant coordinator at Mount Sinai Medical Center. She holds her B.S.N. from Hunter College and her M.A. from New York University. Her doctoral capstone project, "The Effect of a Pre-Visit Phone Call On Anxiety in Patients Presenting for Liver Transplant Evaluation," was completed under the supervision of Kirstyn Kagam, D.N.P.

Theresa Pumpilli Sander is a family nurse practitioner in the Women’s Health Center of Williamsport, Pa., where she developed a program for menopausal counseling and hormone replacement. She holds both her B.S.N. and M.S.N. from Misericordia University. Her doctoral capstone project, "Barriers to Nurse Practitioner Practice in Rural Areas," was completed under the supervision of Carl Ross, Ph.D.

Danielle Kathryn Sebbens is the certified registered nurse practitioner for intestinal care and rehabilitation for Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh of UPMC/University of Pittsburgh Physicians. She holds her B.S.N. from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and her M.S.N. from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, "Evidence Based Education: The Use Of A Digital Video Disk (DVD) To Educate Parents on the Care of a Central Venous Catheter," was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr.P.H.
Sheree Shafer is a certified registered nurse practitioner and a clinical nurse specialist in child and adolescent mental health at Children’s Community Pediatrics of Armstrong, working with children and adolescents with behavioral disorders. She also serves as an adjunct professor for RMU. She holds both her BSN and MSN from Slippery Rock University. Her doctoral capstone project, Improving Nurse Practitioner Knowledge, Comfort, and Practice for Common Pediatric Mental Disorders Within Primary Care: A Pilot Study, was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, DrPH.

Daniel L. Stairs is the director at Excela Health School of Nurse Anesthesia, where he is the director of the graduate program in nurse anesthesia. He holds his B.S. from Saint Vincent College, an MSN in nursing administration from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, and an MBA from Point Park University. His doctoral capstone project, Development of a Curriculum in Leadership for a Graduate Program in Nurse Anesthesia, was completed under the supervision of Lynda Davidson, Ph.D.

Kathleen McCaffery Sweeney holds her BSN from Michigan State University and her MSN from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, A Toolkit for Battling Childhood Obesity: Implementing the ABCD Program for Childhood Obesity in Pediatric Primary Care, was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, DrPH.

Susan N. Van Cleve is a pediatric nurse practitioner in the child development unit and Down syndrome center at the Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh of UPMC. She holds her BSN from the University of Pittsburgh and her MSN from Boston College. Her doctoral capstone project, Nurse Practitioners: The Key To Integration Of Mental Health In Pediatric Primary Care, was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, DrPH.

Melody L. Vetica is the chief nurse anesthetist at Beaver Anesthesia Associates in Heritage Valley Beaver, where she manages a department of 24 nurse anesthetists. She holds a BSN from the University of Utah, an MSN from San Diego University, and an MSHS from La Roche College. Her doctoral capstone project, CRNA Shortages in Rural Pennsylvania, was completed under the supervision of Lynda Davidson, Ph.D.

Nel Walters is a clinical educator for Prison Health Services, where she orients new clinical staff, provides clinical hours at men’s and women’s prisons, and helps teach professional classes at the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections Training Academy. She holds her BSN from Slippery Rock University, an MSN in nursing management/human resources from La Roche College, and an MSN in family nurse practitioner from Slippery Rock and Clarion universities. Her doctoral capstone project, Practicing Medicine in Prisons and Jails: Evaluating Elements of a Corrections Clinical Orientation, was completed under the supervision of Valerie Howard, Ed.D.

Paulette West is a nurse practitioner in compensation and pension at the VA Hospital and a nurse practitioner at UPMC for long-term care patients. She holds both her BSN and MSN from the University of Pittsburgh. Her doctoral capstone project, A Program to Increase Pressure Ulcer Knowledge, was completed under the supervision of Judy Kaufmann, DrPH.

Vicky Ayres-Wolf is a certified family nurse practitioner for Carolina Quick Care, specializing in urgent care and emergency medicine at multiple sites in eastern North Carolina. She holds a BSN from Arizona State University and her MSN from Old Dominion University. Her doctoral capstone project, Hypertension Prevalence and Self-Reported Salt Consumption in One Rural and One Urban Community in Kenya: A Pilot Study, was completed under the supervision of Judith Kaufmann, Dr PH.

Phyllis Wolff-McDonagh is a nurse practitioner in the Diabetes and Endocrinology Center of Suffolk in East Patchogue, N.Y. She provides 24-hour on-call access for insulin pump patients, pregnant patients, and others. She holds her BSN from Adelphi University and a MSN in primary care of infants, children, and adolescents from Seton Hall University. Her doctoral capstone project, Using Insulin Pumps in Poorly Controlled Type 2 Diabetes, was completed under the supervision of Stephen Foreman, Ph.D.